City Requires Leaves in Bags For DPW Curbside Pick-up

City residents are being asked not to rake leaves into the street curbsides because large amounts of debris get into the storm sewers. The DPW street sweeper also becomes jammed by twigs and branches when vacuuming raked leaves and debris from curbsides.

Because of the clogging problems with the sweeper, the City of Grayling is advising residents to bag leaves for pickup and place them at curbside. This will be the only authorized method of collection by the DPW.

Crawford AuSable Loses Small Parcel in Transfer

A section of land with a state equalized value of $136,650 was transferred from the Crawford AuSable School District to Gerrish-Higgins School District by the state board of education.

The state board overruled a C.O.O.R. Intermediate School District board decision to deny the transfer.

Crawford AuSable will lose $3,430 annually in tax revenues at the current millage.

The transfer request came from Steve DeMeere together with two other property owners. The land is section 22 east of Johnson Road in Beaver Creek Township, located about ten miles from Crawford AuSable schools and six miles from Gerrish-Higgins schools.

The transfer involved only four school age children, the children of DeMeere.

The DeMeeres learned the property was in the Crawford AuSable School District after they bought the land. The four children, two in sixth grade and two in the eighth grade, attended Gerrish-Higgins schools before the move and participated in after-school events at Gerrish-Higgins schools. A grandmother living near one of the schools allowed the children to participate in after-school events and stay with their grandmother until their parents could pick them up.

Lauren Harkness, the state hearing officer for the case, recommended granting the transfer because it would allow the children to resume attending classes at Gerrish-Higgins and would help allow the children to participate in after-school activities. He also said the property is closer to Gerrish-Higgins and the transfer would straighten a boundary line by eliminating a peninsula projecting into the Gerrish-Higgins district. Harkness said these reasons outweighed the small economic loss to Crawford AuSable.

Crawford AuSable Schools Superintendent Kent Reynolds felt the transfer request was based purely on personal convenience of the petitioners.

"If they are going to allow transfers for these kinds of reasons, it seems to me that any piece of property touching two districts is open to transfer," said Reynolds.

Reynolds points out that the Michigan Dept. of Education states that transfers should not be made for the singular purpose of personal convenience.

Concerning the straightening of boundary lines, Reynolds said school district boundaries are irregular throughout the state.

"If the state worked ... to straighten boundary lines between all districts statewide, chaos would result," Reynolds told the state hearings office of the Michigan Dept. of Education.

Reynolds was upset at the procedure used by the state to overrule the transfer denial by C.O.O.R. Both the Crawford AuSable and Gerrish-Higgins school districts opposed the transfer and C.O.O.R. voted against it.

All three of these districts have a better working knowledge of the case than a state hearing officer, he said. Yet the state school board merely rubber stamps approval on the hearing officer's recommendation, and, in effect, one person overrules the C.O.O.R. board and the local districts. Reynolds questioned why the transfer review process calls for an intermediate school district decision when this decision is so easily overruled by one person.

This is the second reversal of a transfer request involving Crawford AuSable in recent years. In 1982, a hearing officer and the state board overturned a decision by two intermediate school boards (C.O.O.R. and C.O.P.) to deny a transfer request from Heart Lake.

Commission on Aging Worries Renewal Request Could Confuse Voters

Although Crawford County residents approved a quarter mill for the Commission on Aging about six years ago, officials are worried some people think the commission has a new tax request on the November 4th ballot.

"This is a renewal. It is not a new tax but a continuation of the existing tax," said Sherry Haag, program director for the Commission on Aging.

The quarter mill was approved by voters in 1980 for four years and renewed by voters in 1984 for two years. The two-year renewal requested on the November ballot is for 1987 and 1988.

Approximately $49,500 will be generated by the quarter mill. A portion of the money will be used as a cash match for federal and state monies received by the Commission on Aging. Part of the millage will be used to pay rent of $10,300 a year to the Grayling Housing Commission. All of the money will be used to support established programs or develop new services, said Haag.

In addition to the millage, the Commission on Aging earns about $25,000 a year in program donations to support services for seniors.

Some of the services offered through the Commission on Aging are Home Delivered Meals, Care Co-ordination, Information and Referral, Homemaking, Chore and Personal Care Services, on-site daily meals, Senior Companion Program, Recreational Activities, and Adult Enrichment Activities.

Without millage money, Haag said present services would have to be drastically reduced.

Commission on Aging services are available to all residents of Crawford County, 60 years or older, regardless of income. For questions about the millage or services, call Haag at 348-8342.

Commissioners Approve County Millage Rates

The Crawford County Board of Commissioners set county millages and approved millages for the entire county at their regular meeting Tuesday, October 14.

The commissioners voted to levy the full amount of millage authorized by voters and not cut the millage under the Truth and Taxation law. Under the Truth and Taxation law, a total of .16 mills could have been cut from four county millages - the county allocated operating millage, the Dial-A-Ride millage, the Hanson Hills millage, and the Commission on Aging millage.

The approved 1986 millage rates for the units of government in Crawford County are listed here:

K MART LEADS UNITED WAY DRIVE — Les Felder, K mart manager, (right) hands a check for $3,300 to David Sabin, co-chairman of the United Way 1986 campaign. The Grayling K mart store is leading the way as the top contributor to United Way in Crawford County.

K mart Leads Campaign For United Way Funds

Grayling K mart management and employees are leading the drive to raise $35,000 for United Way of Crawford County.

K mart manager Les Felder presented a check for $3,300 at the United Way kickoff breakfast. And before the drive is over, he said the total contribution from Grayling K mart workers will be around $3,500 — ten percent of the $35,000 goal for Crawford County.

"All the people at Grayling K mart want to show we care a lot about our community," said Felder.

David Sabin, United Way co-chairman for the 1986 campaign fund, is challenging other area businesses to match the community concern shown by K mart. More than 80 percent of K mart employees donated to the United Way this year and their contribution total increased about 50 percent from last year's amount. The $3,500 donation from K mart comes from contributions from only 80 employees.

From Our Corner...

Now I know it is time to get out of the salt mine...when the ol' fella can't remember that he made a fool of himself two nights instead of one, it's time to turn the corner over to someone else...

We were in the post office one day last week and met Dick DuBois. Dick said, I read about Sal in your article, but, you made one mistake...the All Male Revue lasted two nights instead of the one you mentioned...he added, I know because I was in it...

I told Dick I was too, but, I guess senility is setting in with me and not you...or maybe it was the fact I wanted to remove it from my mind...

Can you imagine some 40 guys doing the Can-Can, or pretending they were the Rockettes of Radio City land...or two guys doing the hula, or belly dance...when one weighed probably 350 pounds and the other 110 soaking wet...

In parting, we both agreed on one thing...Sal did not ask you to do anything...she told you that you were going to...it was fun, I guess, and took the doldrums out of life...and like Sal said, you are doing it for the Womans Club, who help other people in need...

If the GPA gets any wild ideas, don't come to the ol' fella, we put in our time on Broadway a long time ago...and besides every other one in the Rockettes line must have been left-handed, every time their left leg came up it should have been the right...confusion? sorry you missed it...

Since we have had Tasha, our Lhasa Apso, we have kept the door closed to our future??? den just so she wouldn't get lost in all of the debris...she is so tiny if she got in the middle of the room it would be something like being in a jungle, with no way out...

So, out of curiosity, we took a peek in the room while our bride had the pup out in the back yard before we came down to the office Sunday...

It was astonishing...we know birds and bees, animals and people multiply...but, never did I know that boxes did...for the life of me I do not know how she can come up with more boxes and they all seem to land in our den?...

After surveying the STUFF, we came away thinking the only way we can get the den STUFF out is to rent one of Bob McLachlan's dumpsters and park it outside the window and just heave...

I asked our bride Sunday morning about a couple of things, her only remark was, I get tired at nighttime...so do I, but I didn't want to spoil her morning coffee and ask, can't it be done in the morning?...besides, at the time she was thinking she should have taken Gloria's call and gone to the links...

God forbid, golfing or even thinking about golf comes before anything...

An idle thought...to all the snow birds that left in the last couple of weeks because of our nasty weather...you should have stayed home...the weekend has been just beautiful...but on second thought, this may be our Indian summer early...

How about those Go Blue...they retaliated against the Hawkeyes of Iowa Saturday...the Hawks dumped the Wolverines last year on the last play 12-10 with a field goal, and this year it was U of M's turn the same way, 20-17...now if I can find my hat, I won't have to wear it backwards...

We have had three typewriters in the hospital this past week, and all of them have different type sizes, so I don't know where I'm at as far as length goes for this turkey so, I'm going to guess and give up the ghost and hope I'm near the end...

With that type of confusion for you we will bid our young gals goodnight...T.J., Stefany and Amber...and to those of us who live up here, hope for continued nice weather like we have experienced this past weekend...have fun...

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

BIBLE CREATION SUPPORTED

by the Universal Flood

How does Noah, the Ark, and the universal flood support Bible creation? Both Bible teachings in Genesis are rejected by liberals. Peter referred to rejection of both beliefs as signs of the apostasy of the last days. (2 Peter 3:3-6). Evidence supporting the flood also supports a literal interpretation of the Bible concerning creation, since both are within the same early context of Bible history.

The Bible description of the ark predates any such floating craft of this size by some 4,000 years. The dimensions were ideal, approximately 450 feet long, by 75 feet wide, and 45 feet high. (Gen. 6:15). The capacity was sufficient to carry 525 railroad stock cars. Scientists believe the ark had the capacity to carry approximately 75,000 animals. In pairs, the ark could have held 37,500 species, many more than the 23,000 existing today. But what about dinosaurs such as the brontosaurus which weighed 30 tons and averaged seventy feet in length? It has been estimated that newly hatched dinosaurs may have been no bigger than a large dog. Which ones would you have tried to load into the ark?

The sighting of the ark on top of Mount Ararat in Turkey has been reported from several sources. A Turkish man reported seeing the ark while the ice was melted during the late 1800's. In 1917, a group of Russians flying over the mountain saw the Ark and took pictures. Only the story survives since the Communist revolution. In 1955, a Frenchman named Mr. Fernand Navarra and his son Raphael, climbed Mt. Ararat and found the Ark buried in a glacier. He chopped through the ice and chopped off a piece of timber about five feet long, after cutting it into three small pieces, he declared it as firewood to the Turkish soldiers upon his return down the mountain. Scientists later declared the timbers to be hand-worked, squared timbers, coated with pitch. Radiation dating indicated the wood to be about 4,000 years old. (Read "The Quest for Noah's Ark" by John Warwick Montgomery).

Our Lord Jesus Christ tied the days of Noah and the flood to the condition of the earth when He comes back again. (Matthew 24:37-39, and Luke 17:26, 27). Jesus Christ declared Noah to be a real person. He declared the flood to be a real flood which destroyed all the wicked upon the earth. The credibility of our Lord Jesus Christ as God and Savior is clearly linked to His teaching about creation and the flood. His coming return to earth and universal judgment of all sin is just as real. Will you see Him as your savior or judge?

How's this for a football oddity...Did you know there was once a college football game in which one team did not run or pass the ball at any time during the entire game, and still won it! It happened to Kentucky...In a game in the early 1900s, Kentucky decided to kick on first down every time they got the ball...They did kick on first down throughout the game...They never ran the ball and never passed...And they won 12-6 by recovering two fumbles by their opponents in the end zone...This oddity is hard to believe but it's been verified by the Kentucky Athletic Department.

Every wonder how many commercials there are during the telecast of college or pro football games?...How many would you say?...The national TV networks put in about 50 different commercials during the telecast of each game.

When was the last time a team won the championship of the National Football League with a rookie as its regular quarterback?...It hasn't happened since 1945 when the Rams won the NFL title with rookie Bob Waterfield at quarterback.

I bet you didn't know...We have the most diversified automobile show place in Michigan. ### After Voting for Governor, Keep Going

by Richard Millman

MOST OF THE heat - and even some of the light - during this election year in Michigan has focused on the races for governor and other statewide offices. These are important.

Some other important jobs are to be filled, too, including members of Congress and both houses of the state legislature. All these are significant, too.

But tucked away, further down on the ballot on Nov. 4, are some other very important decisions, and if history repeats, many voters simply will skip these questions because they forget about them, can't find them on the ballot, or don't appreciate what's involved.

This year, these categories include two voter decision-making areas - one in statewide ballot proposals, and the second in picking Supreme Court justices.

THREE STATEWIDE issues will be on the ballot, and nobody is paying much attention to them.

Proposal A involves the Michigan state library. For years, the state library has been like a stepchild in state government. Once it was a separate agency, with its own citizen board. For a while, it came under the state department of administration. Then it was with the department of education. Now it comes under the state legislature.

Proposal A would give constitutional status to the present situation, making the state library a permanent part of the legislative branch.

Those who favor a "yes" vote argue generally that the state library is like the Library of Congress in Washington, and should be under the legislative branch. Those who oppose argue generally that this crosses lines in the separation of powers doctrine, and that while the state library certainly deserves enhanced status and more attention, the proposed constitutional switch is not the right answer.

PROPOSAL B if adopted would give constitutional status to a group known as the Joint Administrative Rules Committee of the Legislature, which is composed of five members from each lawmaking body and has veto control over rules of all administrative agencies of state government. That's pretty broad power.

Those who favor the plan argue generally that the legislature should retain this strict control, and it should be made constitutional; those who disfavor the idea argue it violates the concept of separation of powers, giving 10 legislators decisive continuing functions in the executive branch, which is bad basic government.

Although many statehouse lobbyists favor the idea, one who is strong in opposition is former House Speaker Bob Waldron, now with the oil industry. "To allow a small committee to override what the legislature adopted and the governor signed into law, or to approve something that the legislature and the governor never saw" without a vote of the full legislature, Waldron argues, would be "a profligate grant of power to a body, the composition of which no one can predict."

PROPOSAL C also deals with the legislature. At the present time, the State Officers Compensation Commission sets salaries and expenses for such constitutional state officials as governor, lieutenant governor and legislators.

However, the attorney general and secretary of state are not covered. Proposal C would extend SOCC jurisdiction to these two additional offices.

Those who favor Proposal C generally argue that omission of these two offices was an oversight; those who don't like the idea contend generally that the SOCC is a bad idea in the first place and should not be extended at all.

AMONG THE THREE proposals, there is not an inch of voter appeal or electoral glamour. Of the three, only Proposal B - involving the administrative rules committee of the legislature - has wide-ranging effect on the public. The state library plan is important largely to the library system and the legislature; the pay-setting process is important largely to the two offices involved.

But to grant total power over the rules of any state agency to 10 members of the legislature, who are not elected directly for this purpose, could have a far-reaching effect on anyone who deals with state government in any form - and that's all of us.

The Almanack is not in the habit of offering advice to its readers on how to vote, so we won't this time either. Instead, we only urge voters to pay attention to what's involved, and to remember to express a decision one way or the other.

(And if you really want to know how the writer of this essay plans to vote, all you have to do is ask.)

OF EVEN MORE importance than all three ballot proposals put together is the election of two members of the Michigan Supreme Court.

Through a combination of inaction by legislators and circumstances, the supreme court ballot this year will include 24 names. That's because the way Michigan election laws are built right now, election officials cannot deny space on the ballot to anyone technically eligible for office who wants his/her name there.

To expect voters to wade through a list of 24 names to find the two best qualified is unrealistic, and hopefully the legislature will close the election law loophole which permitted this to occur. But that won't effect the Nov. 4 ballot. We're still stuck with 24 names to sift.

If history repeats, the vote for this office will be low anyway, and this year many voters are simply going to throw up their hands in dismay and skip the whole thing. That makes every vote even more important.

AGAIN, WE WON'T advise readers how to vote; rather we urge them to study the candidates ahead of time, make up their minds on who they want to serve on their supreme court, and search out those names on the supreme court ballot.

Personally, I hope voters limit their choices to the nominees of the major parties, and send all the self-starters back to the normal political process - flawed as it is in judicial election law in Michigan.

The four major party nominees - who won places on the supreme court ballot through the normal, accepted, and long-used process - are (listed alphabetically) Dennis Archer, Robert P. Griffin, James T. Kallman and Dean Robb.

These four candidates are all qualified, each in a slightly different way. Voters should take their pick, and make their wishes known.

And then they should urge their legislators to clean up the election laws, too.

BAGS MULE DEER - Chris Millikin, 15 year old son of John and Sylvia Millikin and grandson of Floyd and Betty Millikin with the six point Mule deer he bagged during his first hunting trip to Wyoming.

Check 'Medigap' Insurances Carefully

Today you're more likely than ever to receive medical care as an outpatient. Last year alone, nearly 245 million Americans received medical care without being admitted to a hospital. For many reasons this is good news. Outpatient care is more convenient, allows you to be treated sooner, and generally costs less than inpatient care.

While outpatient care is easier on your budget, one visit still costs an average of $105. Private insurance usually covers these costs. But if you're one of this country's 30 million Medicare recipients, you are required to meet certain deductibles and co-payments for outpatient services.

Medicare has two parts, A and B. Part A covers inpatient hospital care, minus a $492 deductible per benefit period. Part B can cover 80 percent of most outpatient care services, however, you are required to pay the remaining 20 percent plus a $75 annual deduction and a $15.50 monthly premium.

If you suffer from a chronic condition, these costs can add up. For example, the annual cost of outpatient rheumatoid arthritis treatment can be as much as $1,000. This comes to $461 in out-of-pocket expenses a year.

As a result, it is estimated that senior citizens purchase up to $3 billion in supplemental insurance to cover the deductibles, co-payments, and other services that Medicare does not. Although some of these policies, also known as "Medigap" insurance, offer appropriate and useful coverage, many seniors are misled into purchase policies that only duplicate what Medicare already covers.

Strategies for alleviating instances of "Medigap" fraud are currently being discussed in Washington, D.C. However, being an Pigeons have eyesight so acute that they have been used by many nations in peace and war. During the Vietnam war, pigeons were trained to fly in front of a convoy of troops. If they found a camouflaged soldier, they would land near him, and a radio signal would be sent back to the convoy. The pigeons were fine, but the system was never actually used; there was a problem with the transmitter.

educated consumer is still your best defense. Take the time to carefully read the provisions of any supplemental insurance policy you may be considering and make sure you know exactly what it does and does not cover.

Mercy Hospital, Grayling offers the following guidelines to use in reviewing supplemental coverage policies.

* A single, comprehensive policy is better than several policies that provide more coverage than you need.

* The government does not sponsor or endorse any type of supplemental insurance. It is illegal for advertising or insurance agents to make that claim.

* Do not be misled by the statement "no medical examination required". Certain health conditions might not be covered under this policy.

* Beware of policies that let the company refuse to renew your policy on an individual basis.

* Do not pay any supplemental insurance premiums in cash. Pay by check or money order. Document all payments and keep files of forms and policies.

* Do not let a short-term enrollment period pressure you into a decision. Allow time to consider your options.

RECEIVES ARTS COUNCIL GRANT — Susan Prause, CCAC grant recipient, works with GMS and GHS students in her acting workshop.
Grayling High School and Central Michigan University graduate Susan Prause recently received a grant from the Crawford County Arts Council to attend the 1986 Summer Training Congress at the American Conservatory Theatre in San Francisco.
The Congress was an intensive ten-week study which featured training in acting, movement, dance, voice, make-up, and stage combat. Acceptance was by audition only.
Ms. Prause has returned to San Francisco this fall to pursue a theatrical career, and plans to apply to graduate school in the spring.
While in Grayling in September, she offered an afternoon workshop in acting to Middle and High School students, also sponsored by the Arts Council.
The CCAC actively promotes the visual and performing arts in the Crawford County area, with special emphasis on students of all ages. If you would like to renew a membership or take a new one, call 348-7037 or write P.O. Box 1, Grayling, Mi. 49738.

Herbal Corner

Looking through garden catalogs for something different next year (Yes, darlin', we do start this early). I came across Heliotrope and thought of the beautiful blue-flowered bush we had in the gardens. My thoughts then turned to the garden heliotrope that was in another bed. Both plants are extremely fragrant. The blue flower smells like a mild perfume where the light pink one smells...different. The blue flower is beautiful and short, whereas, the pink one is about five feet tall and...interesting.
The pink plant is botanically named Valerian officinale. Officinale, by the way, means that the plant at one time or still is being used for pharmaceutical purposes. I am told, and I do not know how true this is — but am inclined to believe it, that the Valerian officinale is the basis for our modern Valium. Valerian is used as a tranquilizer like Valium but without the physical side effects of Valium. I will publicly admit this, this one time only. Several years ago, before I discovered herbs, I was addicted to Valium and was unaware of it at the time. I found this out when I decided I was tired of popping pills and stopped taking them that day. The withdrawals were something I would not wish on an enemy. I have since learned that any product, no matter how good it is for you, can be a dependent for your body. I have taken both Valium and Valerian. Valium gives me a feeling of euphoria or uncaring where Valerian calms me but I am still able to function. It just seems to settle me down inside. I take neither anymore.

Darlin', I would not recommend either the Valium or Valerian unless by doctors orders. Just remember one thing. Anything that alters your emotions can and usually is psychologically addictive, even for the most normal person.

Herbally yours,
E. Diona Cerelli, C.H.

On Monday, the 8th grade girls basketball team whipped Houghton Lake 30-21. They also went on to beat Gaylord St. Mary's 24-15 on Wednesday. Their win-loss record now stands at 3-3.

The leading scorer against Houghton Lake was Nicki Morrill with 20 points. Heather Stephenson chipped in to that with 6 points. Also, Claudine Allen and Shannon Hinds both had 2 points.

Viking coach Carrie Mayes said that if the 8th grade girls continue to improve, they should win some more games like they did on Monday and Wednesday. Coach Mayes also commented that Grayling did a nice job breaking St. Mary's press.

On Wednesday's game, the leading scorer was Heather Stephenson with 10 points. The other people who scored were Nicki Morrill 8, Nichole Meagher 3, Missy Gorman 2, and Candy Grigsby 1. Candy Grigsby led the team with 9 rebounds. Claudine Allen led the team in steals with 4.

Petersen - Babcock Vows Spoken

Shelly Ann Petersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Moore and the late Thomas Petersen of Grayling, and Eddie Avery Babcock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Babcock of Roscommon, exchanged wedding vows in a marriage service at 5:00 p.m., September 13, 1986 at the First Congregational Church of Roscommon.

Rev. Thomas Mayne officiated the double-ring ceremony. The organist Carol Reznich, a member of the church accompanied the soloist, Brenda Petrosky while she sang, "The Wedding Song."

The bride was escorted down the aisle by both her father and mother.

The bride wore a gown of satin and sheer English netting, with a floral and appliqued bodice, elasticized puff sleeves, V neckline in front and back, and a chapel length train trimmed in satin. Her hat was satin, trimmed with pearls and flowers to match the flowers in her dress, attached fingertip veil with a bow and streamer. She carried a bouquet of white and red handmade silk roses accented with sprays of pearls and baby's breath.

The maid of honor was Debbie Petersen, sister-in-law of the bride. Bridesmaids were Brenda Petrosky (soloist), Margine Jurkovich, Kelly Petersen, cousin of the bride, and Kristina Leckrone who made all of the silk flowers and arrangements. They wore matching red jacquard-patterned satin gowns, with straight skirts, and carried a single white open rose, accented with pearl sprays, and red ribbons.

The groom wore a full-dress white tuxedo, with satin lapels and white satin bow-tie. His lapel was accented with two single satin red roses. Donnie Babcock, brother of the groom, was the best man and wore a black full dress tuxedo with red bow-tie and a single red tea rose to accept his black satin lapel.

Groomsmen and ushers also wore black full dress tuxedos with red accessories. They were John Petersen, brother of the bride; Brad Andrews, Ray Carr, and Jimmy Johnson, friends of the groom. Todd Petersen and Mark Petersen, brothers of the bride, were the ushers.

The ring bearers, Scott Petersen, nephew of the bride, and Dustin Babcock, nephew of the groom, also wore black full dress tuxedos with red accessories.

The flower girls, Angela Cline, niece of the groom, and Danielle Moore, niece of the bride wore white and red taffeta gowns with ruffled neckline and bouffant skirts, they wore baby's breath wreaths on their heads.

The mother of the bride wore a light blue sleeveless gown with matching jacket, the groom's mother wore a mauve sleeveless gown with a sheer cape.

The fathers wore a black evening tuxedos with white shirts and black satin bowties with black satin lapels accented with single white tea roses.

A buffet reception for approximately 400 guests was held at Patty's Country House in Grayling, which was decorated with red and white streamers, wedding bells, and red and white candles.

The groom is employed with General Telephone of Gaylord. The bride is employed with Chemical Bank North of Grayling. The couple resides in Roscommon.

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH THE LOTTERY?

FACT: In 1981, after 9 years, the Lottery profits were put into the State School Aid Fund.
FACT: 31% of the schools receive no State Aid except for Transportation and Special Education.
FACT: Many many others receive only partial State Aid.
FACT: The State Aid formula is weighted against smaller and/or rural school districts and some large districts.

OPINION: The Lottery profits (420 million or $252 per student in 1986) should be divided among all school systems based on the most recent 4th Friday count. All school children should benefit equally from this NON-TAX money.

PLEDGE: I will as your State Senator within one calendar year gain this goal of equal distribution of the Lottery profits or I will Organize, Direct and Lead the Drive for a Constitutional Amendment to get the job done.

Notes From Chris Clover

The 4-H Leader Council still has available copies of the cookbook, "Savor-it". These make great gifts and the cost is only $6.50 each.

The 4-H Soccer Program wrapped up another successful season this week. We had 127 children involved in three different age groups. There were four teams in each of the six to seven year olds and eight to ten year olds. There were two teams, age 11 and up, which played teams from Roscommon and Gaylord. There will be an awards ceremony on Tuesday, October 28, at the Grayling Elementary School at 7:00 p.m. There will be ribbons for each of the divisions and 4-H will present participation certificates and year pins. Refreshments will be served.

Congratulations coaches, referees, sponsors, organizers and parents for your time, patience, and ability in making this program work so well.

Due to reallocation of funds, mailings from the office have been drastically cut. Be sure to follow this column for your 4-H news.

A big welcome to two new leaders. Judy Packard is the new 4-H Stamp Club leader and Sharon Rice is the leader of a new 4-H Cooking Club.

The Cooking Club will be ready to shake and bake the end of this month. Boys and girls in the third through sixth grades who are interested should contact the 4-H office very soon as enrollment is limited.

The Peer-Plus Workshop at Kettunen Center will be held December 5, 6, and 7th. This is for 14 year olds and up. Call right away to sign up.

A final note: Shelley Hubbard is the new 4-H Program Assistant and has been on the job for about a month. She'll be glad to answer any questions you have and help you start your own club. The phone number of the 4-H office is 348-2841, ext. 284.

Fall Bazaar at Lewiston

There will be a Fall Bazaar at Bethlehem Lutheran Church, County Road 612 West, Lewiston, on Saturday, November 8th, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The many items available are quilts, quilted items including Christmas tree skirts and pillows, silk flower arrangements, baked goods, houseware items, country store (homemade jams, jellies, etc.), Youth booth, and a book store.

We will have a coffee break from 9 to 10:30 at which coffee, tea, and rolls will be served, and a lunch of soups, sandwiches, and desserts will be served from 11 to 2.

Plan Early

October isn't too early to plan holiday baking.

Winter Chicken???

Holiday Inn & H.T. Productions Ready Next Dinner Theatre

"What's that you say? Winter what?" "Winter Chicken", that's the title of the next play to be performed at the Grayling Holiday Inn for their next dinner theatre. That event will take place on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, November 7, 8 and 9. Reserved seat tickets are now available in the sales office of the Holiday Inn and orders will be accepted by phone by calling 348-7641 or 800-292-9055.

If you enjoy "The Golden Girls" on television, you'll love "Winter Chicken". This wildly funny farce centers on the zany schemes of slightly past middle aged Eleanor Brander, a divorcee who decides that the time is ripe to get back with her ex-husband, especially now that he is rather wealthy. What happens when Walter comes home? Is Eleanor's daughter really going to marry her fiancée? And what is Elma Blue doing with Dr. Abernathy? It's all a hilarious and terribly funny situation with unexpected twists and turns.

In this production of "Winter Chicken" the role of Eleanor Brander will be created by D.J. Taylor. Her life-long friend Elma Blue, a somewhat eccentric novelist who drinks too much will be played by Mary Galloway. Walter, the ex-husband is played by Clayton Horton while their daughter Elizabeth who can't decide whether or not to get married will be played by Renata Champion. The on-the-string fiancée will be played by Todd Riley. Appearing as Dr. Abernathy, a very innocent optometrist who stumbles into the situation will be created by Mel Moore. Rounding out the cast will be Sue Swalec who portrays Gretchen, the ex-husband's old girl friend. "Winter Chicken" is being directed by Marion Tournaud with technical direction by Troy Haag.

Babysitting Short Course Offered Here

Grayling Promotional Association News

GPA has had a busy summer and fall and plans are in full swing for the celebration of lights with the kick off scheduled for the Friday following Thanksgiving - November 28th.

At the regular GPA meeting held October 15th GPA heard a request from the community self improvement project for assistance with a large downtown Christmas tree to be located in the vacant lot between the probate judge's office and Grandma's Dolls. The request stated that they would furnish the tree, put it up and string the lights - if GPA would donate them. After much discussion GPA decided to agree to the request and Grayling can look forward to a beautiful tree as an addition to the other downtown decorations.

Further discussion centered around the fact that if a similar tree was placed in other areas it would contribute to the overall holiday feeling. Suggestions were that one tree could be somewhere on M-72 West between the traffic light and the Red Barn, another on the I-75 Business Loop between the Country Club and the Holiday Inn, and a third on Old US-27 between the traffic light and the cemetery.

If there are organizations or individuals in the area that would be interested in contributing the tree, the installation, the electricity, and the work of stringing the lights (plus dismantling when the holiday/festival season is over) GPA would consider additional donations of lights. If this project is of interest to you please contact any GPA member.

Hunting Clothes

Gail Edwards, Ext. Home Economist

It's time for hunters to think about clothing that will keep them safe, dry and warm in the blind, field or woods.

Hunting clothes can be expensive to buy and quality can be difficult to judge because all garments of a particular type look similar. Once you've made the initial investment, however, you can wear the garments for many seasons.

Read labels carefully, and give some thought to the information that is implied or missing. For example, "line dry" may imply the garment will shrink if dried in a dryer. Clothing labels, though no longer required to list fiber content must tell you how to care for a garment. If labels are missing, ask a clerk or the store manager about this.

For safety, consider design features and color. Choose clothing that fits fairly close to the body while allowing for freedom of movement. Some jackets have recoil pads on the shoulder for protection. Be certain pockets can be closed so items being carried won't get lost or caught on a fence or in the brush. Pockets for game need to open out fully to be cleaned easily, and vests should be easy to fasten.

Bright orange clothing is required in the firearm deer season. Hunter's orange is also recommended in the pheasant season to make hunters visible above tall corn. Camouflage is also available in a red and orange combination.

To stay dry, hunters can choose waterproof or water-repellent clothing. Waterproof fabrics usually have a rubber or polyurethane coating. Water cannot penetrate unless the garment has stitched rather than sealed seams. Waterproof clothing can be hot to wear because it doesn't let perspiration out.

Water-repellent fabrics "breathe", so they are more comfortable to wear. Though water usually runs off, a heavy rain can soak through. These fabrics have a professional finish, such as Zepel or Scotchgard.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

by Wendell L. Hoover
Park Interpreter

I heard the call last night, no not a call to the ministry, but a call that always haunts me. Geese were moving south and their call came from above the clouds. I know not if they were Canada's Blues or Snows. Some might know by the tone or frequency which species, but for me the chill I felt was both of the coming winter and the wildness of that far flung call.

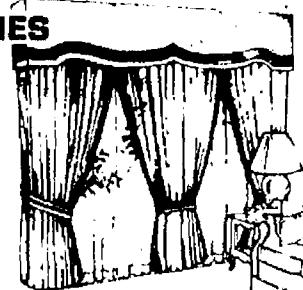

That call further confirmed all the other signs of an approaching winter. The deer are winter gray now and the last buck I saw looked really fit for the coming rut. I haven't spotted a mosquito for some time now and the house flies that frequented the windows in the shop are pretty much gone.

The oaks are turning color early; it is said, because the ground is so full of water. The maples are bare of leaves, the buds of next spring protected by nature's anti-freeze against the chill that wafted through on the tail feathers of those geese.

Those Magical Pictures

As a social worker and student of gerontology, I find my contact with the institutionalized elderly a challenging and educational experience.

I recall the time I visited a man who was not exactly in a cordial mood. To my question, "How are you?" he abruptly responded, "I'm not worth a damn. You can see that for yourself. Now get out." Not expecting that kind of reaction, threw me and I was momentarily at a loss for an appropriate response. Noticing the wall display holding his pictures I said calmly "You have very nice-looking people in your family." A faint smile cracked his face as he replied, "Thanks. Yes, they are fine folks."

With that as an opener he shared fairly openly regarding his life in the nursing home. We talked about his family as well as why he wasn't "worth a damn" that day. While we were visiting I picked up the small bedside photograph of his niece. I asked, "Mind if I clean the glass?" "No, go right ahead. Glad to have it done". I felt good after this interview since the situation had turned from outright hostility to this gentleman being happy that I came to see him. The pictures of his family seemed to hold a kind of magical quality which completely reversed this resident's mood.

I thought about our visit often during the following two weeks. I knew institutional living required giving up certain aspects of individuality for the facility's overall functioning. But one's family is such a unique thing that it will always be a mark of individuality that no institution can ever take away from a person.

However, something else seemed to be a part of the scene with this man. It finally dawned on me that my being complimentary about his family and cleaning the niece's picture were two ways of indirectly affirming him. This affirmation - the "warm fuzzy", the positive stroke was the thing that changed his attitude toward my visit.

It's interesting to note that for all the times I've "cleaned the glass" not once has a resident objected. Invariably, residents seemed almost honored by this simple gesture. I think the real lesson to be learned from this experience is that there are many easy ways to directly or indirectly let nursing home residents know they are special, unique, worthwhile people.

Special Olympics

Four Grayling youths are headed for Notre Dame University at South Bend, Indiana, next summer to compete in the 1987 International Summer Special Olympics. The four Olympians are members of the Northland Tigercats soccer team who captured the Division II State Title last weekend in Warren, and then were chosen to represent Michigan at the International games. The other members of the Tigercats are from Roscommon, Mio, St. Helen, and Houghton Lake.

Grayling Olympian, Chris Wylie, kicked in the winning goal that gave the Tigercats a 1-0 victory over Flint for the championship. Earlier in the tournament the Northland squad defeated Muskegon 3-2 in triple overtime with Chris Whaley, also of Grayling scoring a goal in that game. Other Grayling athletes headed for South Bend next summer include Jerry Whaley and Tom Ferguson. The Area 4 Northland Special Olympics Committee needs to raise $8000 to send the 20 athletes and coaches to the 10 day International event next summer.

While the Northland "A" team was winning the Division II title, the "B" team captured the State championship in Division III of the six-a-side division. The "B" squad earned the title with wins over St. Clair County and Dearborn. Dawn Whaley, and Joe Krieter, both of Grayling, scored goals for the champions.

Whitey Madsen
Crawford Co. Avalanche
Grayling, MI 49738

Dear Whitey:
Mr. Bruce Patrick, Dept. of Natural Resources enforcement division, in the September 25, 1986 publication of the Crawford County Avalanche informed the subscribers and readers of general information regarding the carrying and transporting of Pistols or Revolvers anywhere within the State of Michigan.

In his article Mr. Patrick assumably quoted from the Michigan Criminal Law. It is understandable that without a license to carry a concealed sidearm it would be necessary to carry the weapon in plain view. Sports enthusiasts now must pay $34.00 for a three year license to carry a pistol/revolver: $10.00 for the Michigan State Police fingerprint clearance, $14.00 for the Federal clearance and $10.00 to the County licensing board. For what purpose is this license intended if not to legally allow the Sportsperson to utilize possessions in which they take pride? The purpose of fingerprinting is to allow a check of the applicants past history, this is done to prevent known criminals from obtaining or carrying weapons. It is commonly known that the opposite effect has proven true; Quoting the well advertised proverb, "When guns are outlawed only outlaws will have guns". True, the criminal has little if any respect for the law or for the rights of the honest citizen, but, then why do Legislators, Judges, Attorneys, Police Officers, and yes the Natural Resources Commission publish laws-regulations or notices which leave the Honest Citizenry vulnerable. If we Sports Enthusiasts cannot carry or transport our sidearms (with a CCW license & unloaded) upon our persons, and, if we as hundreds of hunting enthusiasts do have a vehicle without a trunk where but in an area vulnerable to rust and abrasive damage are the weapons to be carried without fear of being in violation of the law and having the weapon confiscated? It would seem an intelligent consideration that after complying with the law by HAVING obtained a valid hunting license, HAVING obtained a license to carry the weapon concealed, HAVING unloaded the weapon that the Sportsperson could then be considered Honest and Trustworthy.

For years it has been an accepted circumstance for licensed individuals to leave their sidearm (unloaded) on their person, or encased on the seat beside them. After many years of dispute finally, through efforts of organizations such as the NRA as well as many Sport/Hunting groups, President Reagan signed into law last May 1986 a Bill relaxing the Federal laws on Hand-guns. Why now then is the State of Michigan creating more restrictive circumstances? If the present D.N.R. Director wishes to discover what the public relations problem between the sporting public and the DNR really is he has but to look around. This recent CCW cliché is but one of the many examples he would find obvious.

Sincerely,
Dale A. Peterson

Resource Review

Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

Most years, the Dept. of Natural Resources conducts a mail survey to glean information about the various hunting seasons in the state. A small percentage of licensed hunters are requested to furnish information about their experiences during the appropriate hunting season. This statistically valid information is published each year, usually in late summer or early fall following the hunting season.

The 1985 small game report is available to anyone who is interested (Wildlife Division Report #3035). This represents the results of 3,821 questionnaires returned out of 5,031 sent out. This is nearly equal to 1% of the 312,000 licensed small game hunters last year.

Some of the information obtained is that, compared to 1983: the duck kill was down by 20%; the pheasant kill by 41%; grouse and woodcock take was up 36% and 14% respectively (this is due partly to decreased hunter effort in the case of the first two species as well as increased effort after the last two species; hunter effort and take were up for squirrels, hares and rabbits, red fox and coyotes; 14% fewer raccoon hunters took 45% more animals; and 37% more gray fox hunters took 64% fewer of that species.

Totals of license sales, hunter hours and take are listed for each species and region. If you should ever receive one of the survey questionnaires take time to accurately complete and return it. Doing so helps wildlife managers do a better job for you.

Keeping Healthy

"Floating Foot Syndrome"
Leads to Foot Ills

"Floating Foot Syndrome" or buying shoes a size or more too large to try to get longer wear for children's shoes is asking for trouble," according to Dr. Rosario LaBarbera.

A child's shoe is very important. The fit must be perfect, neither too large nor too small. And it should be checked every two months. Ideally the child should rotate the shoes every day, as an adult should.

It is particularly tempting to use the "Floating Foot Syndrome" when buying footwear that will be used infrequently—ice skates, roller skates, cleats—and padding the foot with socks. Dr. LaBarbera cautions against this because, even with extra socks, the foot floats in the shoe. "This leads to the toes contracting when they lurch into the front of the shoe, the arch is poorly supported, and the muscles become fatigued."

Alumni News

We recognize the committee members who made the G.H.S. Alumni dinner a success. General Planning, Helen Feldhauser with her helpers, Dorothy McLeod, Lois LaGrow, Wilma LaGrow, Reception - Tressa and Elmer Fenton, Clara Sorenson, Registration and Reservations - Alberta Wiggins, Louise Feldhauser, Beverage Tickets - Boots Balch, Marie Akers. It takes a lot of cooperation to put this all together and our Board does cooperate 100%, like every member present to arrange tables, take orders from the President.

We were put on a VCR tape during the whole evening, by Doug Nielsen who has this available for anyone interested in viewing same. Jack Hagerman had his camera and made another VCR tape. Sounds like good entertainment...we have never been put on movie camera before!

Do you remember Jake Burnham? Had a letter from a friend telling us of his obituary in a Lansing paper. He taught Math and coached football here in '26 and '27 (?) Elmer Fenton played on one of his teams.

Do you remember Claire Jacques? An obituary in the Free Press gave an interesting resume of her life. To quote: "Claire Jacques Pugh, born in Hancock, Mi., died in Beverly Hills, Mi. at age 79. After graduation from MSU, she taught English, Elocution and Drama in Grayling Public Schools. She represented Michigan at the request of Governor Comstock, at the World's Fair in Chicago, '33 and '34. She is survived by her husband, Edgar, 2 children, 3 sisters." End quote... (One of them is Virginia) Remember her? All the boys wanted to take gym class from her.

I have a couple of good pictures to show you, so another week, another treat.

Chamber Notes

By Terry Wright

The fall colors have just about run their course for this year. The color season was shorter this year probably due to the record rainfall that knocked most leaves to the ground early. Fall travelers were more scarce also. I'm sure many tourists were afraid to brave the downstate floods to come north.

All is not lost however; now comes the hunters who, through rain and sleet and snow and hail, will not be delayed from their appointed tasks. Hunting is big business here in the northland. If catered to properly, hunters will spend lots of bucks (or doe) in our area. And isn't it our responsibility to make sure that they are treated to the very best that we have to offer?

The Chamber has received a resignation from Board Member Howard Meek. As the Plant Manager of the Weyerhaeuser Plant, Howard's time for participation was very limited. Howard and Weyerhaeuser will continue to support the Chamber and we are very grateful to him.

The Board voted unanimously to install Bob McCurdy of the J.C. Penney Store and Northern Electronics to fulfill Howard's term in office. We welcome and look forward to working with Bob.

Write Down County Ambulance Phone Numbers Before Emergencies Hit

Crawford County Ambulance Corps members are urging county residents to write down phone numbers for ambulance service before emergencies strike. The numbers should be placed in a prominent position near the phone. Easy access to ambulance phone numbers can save valuable time in an emergency.

The telephone number for the Crawford County Ambulance Corps, the county-operated ambulance service, is 348-6341 (the same number as the Crawford County Sheriff Dept.) The Crawford County Ambulance Corps provides the entire county with emergency ambulance service. In Frederic and Maple Forest townships, the county corps mainly are a back-up for the Frederic Ambulance Corps. The number for Frederic and Maple Forest residents to call for the Frederic Ambulance Corps is 348-9191.

United Way

An easy way for employees to contribute to United Way is the payroll deduction plan, said Sabin. For more information, call United Way president John Cherven, 348-2554, or Sabin, 348-2554.

Sabin, co-chairman for the campaign with Bruce Gillis, said he hopes to involve more young people in this year's campaign. "So much of the United Way projects are involved in assisting children," Sabin explained. "I'd like to get them involved."

Two possibilities are a teen clean-up crew that would offer its services to the community with proceeds from their efforts going to the United Way, and a special dance with some of the proceeds going into the United Way fund.

Because there are no door-to-door solicitations of funds, Sabin said fundraisers are an important part of the Crawford County United Way campaign.

Sabin said United Way deserves support because of the local benefits it provides.

"At least 80 percent of the contributions stay right in the county," Sabin explained. "If for no other reason than that, people should feel the money they give will be used in their own community for their friends and neighbors."

Local agencies receiving United Way funds this year include Community, Family & Children Services, Crawford AuSable Day Care Center, Crawford County 4-H, Mitten Bay Girl Scout Council, Sibs for Kids, Youth Services Bureau, Kenquest House, Lake Huron Area Boy Scouts of America, and Hospice of Crawford County.

All About Short-Cuts

They say he brushed his teeth twice a day with a nationally advertised tooth paste. The doctor examined him twice a year. He wore his overshoes when it rained; slept with the windows open, and stuck to a diet with plenty of fresh vegetables.

He relinquished his tonsils and traded in several wornout glands. And he golfed, but never more than 18 holes at a time.

Each night he slept at least eight hours. He never smoked, drank, nor lost his temper. He did his daily dozen daily. He was set to live to 100.

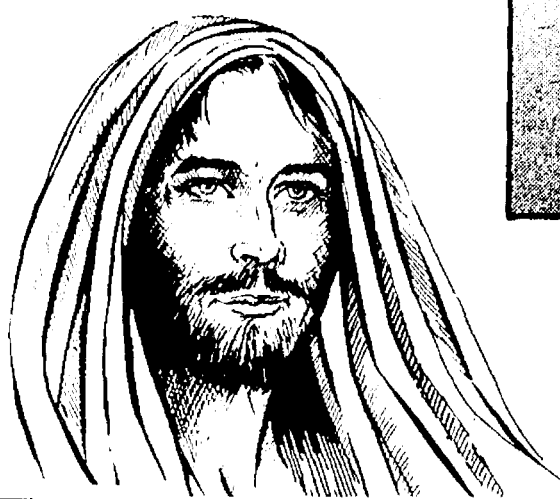

His funeral will be next Wednesday. He is survived by 18 specialists, 4 health institutes, 6 gyms, and numerous companies of health foods.

He had forgotten about trains at level crossings. Why? He was in a hurry taking short-cuts!

Life has few if any short-cuts. There are certain roads and processes which cannot be avoided. Success and fulfillment in life offer no short-cuts. Even God takes ten years to grow a ten-year-old oak tree.

And Jesus reminded us about short-cuts: "Straight is the gate and narrow is the way, which leads to life..."
